

“Fork in the Road”

Song Lyrics

[Verse 1]

Came to a fork in the middle of my soul
One path was golden, the other was coal
The easy one whispered, “Just follow me down”
The other one shook me — hard, narrow ground

[Verse 2]

The devil don’t wear horns, sometimes he smiles
He talks about shortcuts and sweet little lies
Said, “Why climb mountains when I’ve paved the way?”
But something in my bones said, don’t you stray

[Chorus]

*‘Cause I’d be dealing with the devil, trading peace for the prize
Burning what’s eternal for a momentary high
The truth ain’t always pleasant, the climb ain’t always fair
But God don’t promise easy — just that He’ll meet me there
And when the pain comes calling, I’ll stand tall and bold
I’d rather walk through fire than sell my soul
At the fork in the road*

[Verse 3]

I ain’t no preacher, I’ve fallen before
I know the taste of regret behind closed doors
But mercy don’t run when the storm starts to blow
It stands with the broken and helps them grow

[Bridge]

One road leads to heaven, the other to loss
One has a crown, the other a cost
The devil deals fast, but he’ll leave you broke
With nothing but ashes and smoke

[Chorus]

*‘Cause I’d be dealing with the devil, trading peace for the prize
Burning what’s eternal for a momentary high
The truth ain’t always pleasant, the climb ain’t always fair
But God don’t promise easy — just that He’ll meet me there
And when the pain comes calling, I’ll stand tall and bold
I’d rather walk through fire than sell my soul
At the fork in the road*

[Outro]

So if you’re standing where I stood — worn out, unsure, alone
Just know the harder path will take you home
At the fork in the road...

✨ Reflection / Reminder

This song is your reminder that you still have a choice — and that taking the harder road is what makes you stronger. You are not alone. You are not beyond redemption. There is purpose in your pain.

“Fork in the Road”

POEM

There's a fork in the road where the shadows divide,
One paved in silence, one shaped by the light.
The past pulls heavy, like chains on your soul,
But the future is waiting, with hands you can hold.

One path is worn from footsteps of fear,
It echoes with ghosts and the lies you still hear.
But the other? It's quiet—uncharted and true,
With room for redemption and a life made new.

It won't be easy. It won't be fast.
But freedom lives in each choice you grasp.
Not in perfection, not in fame—
But in choosing love and shedding shame.

So take that step, no matter how slow,
You're not alone on this winding road.
Grace walks beside you, hope lights the way—
And healing is yours, if you just choose to stay.

HOLD ON TO TOMORROW – Lyrics

Verse 1

You're staring at the ceiling, wide awake again
Heart heavy with secrets you won't tell a friend
Tired of the silence, tired of the fight
Tired of pretending everything's alright

Pre-Chorus

But there's a voice inside, still holding tight
Whispers in the dark, "Don't give up tonight"

Chorus

*Hold on to tomorrow, it's not far away
The storm that you're in won't forever stay
There's more to your story than sorrow and pain
You're not lost, you're not broken, you can rise again
So hold on... hold on to tomorrow*

Verse 2

You're not the only one who's walked this road
Carrying a burden no one should hold
But even in shadows, hope lights a flame
There's healing in knowing you're not to blame

Pre-Chorus

You are not your struggle, you are not your past
This moment won't define you, it will never last

Chorus

*Hold on to tomorrow, it's not far away
The storm that you're in won't forever stay
There's more to your story than sorrow and pain
You're not lost, you're not broken, you can rise again
So hold on... hold on to tomorrow*

Bridge

You were made for love, made to be free
There's purpose in your breath, even if you can't see
Let the light in, let it break through
There's someone out here who's praying for you

Final Chorus

*So hold on to tomorrow, don't let go tonight
You're stronger than you know, and you'll be alright
There's more to your story than sorrow and pain
You are loved, you are chosen, you can rise again
So hold on... just hold on...
To tomorrow*

HOLD ON TO TOMORROW

POEM

YOU'RE NOT ALONE IN YOUR SILENT FIGHT,
THERE'S A FLICKER OF HOPE IN THE DARKEST NIGHT.
A WHISPER THAT SAYS, "PLEASE STAY, DON'T GO..."
THERE'S MORE TO YOUR LIFE THAN THE PAIN YOU KNOW.

THE WEIGHT YOU CARRY IS NOT WHO YOU ARE,
YOU WERE MADE FOR MORE, YOU'VE COME SO FAR.
YOU'RE LOVED, YOU'RE SEEN, AND THOUGH YOU FEEL SMALL,
THERE'S STRENGTH IN YOU, ENOUGH TO STAND TALL.

SO HOLD ON TO TOMORROW, JUST MAKE IT THROUGH TODAY,
THE STORM WILL PASS, THE FEAR WILL FADE AWAY.
YOU ARE NOT BROKEN BEYOND REPAIR—
YOU MATTER, YOU'RE NEEDED, AND HEALING IS THERE.

HOLD ON... BECAUSE TOMORROW NEEDS YOU HERE.

“Still Worth Saving”

LYRICS

Verse 1

She used to laugh like a wildfire glow
Now her voice is buried down below
The bottles helped her numb the ache
But each one took more than it gave
She smiles in photos, fades in crowds
Says she's fine, but it's wearing out
She's mastered masks and makeup grace
But cries in secret, can't escape

Pre-Chorus

And no one sees the fight behind her eyes
The days she barely stays alive

Chorus

But she's still worth saving
Still worth the climb
Still has a story that's aching to shine
Even when she breaks, she's not beyond repair
God's not done — He's still right there
So if she's listening, if she's praying
Tell her she's still worth saving

Verse 2

There's no shame in being tired
No weakness in walking through the fire
She's been to hell and made it back
Each scar a map — not just a crack
She's not her worst mistake, her pain
She's not the whispers or the shame
She's not the girl who gave up hope
She's the woman still learning to cope

Pre-Chorus

She may not see it in the mirror's light
But she's more than what she's lost inside

Chorus

Yeah, she's still worth saving
Still worth the climb
Still has a song she ain't sung in time
Even when she falls, she's held through the air
Grace don't leave — it meets her there
So if she's fading, if she's breaking
Tell her she's still worth saving

Bridge

One more sunrise, one more breath
Can be the start — not just what's left
Her story's sacred, not erased
She's wrapped in mercy, kissed by grace

Final Chorus

She's still worth saving
Still worth the tears
Still has tomorrow whispering near
Even in her silence, love is there
And Heaven's hand still holds her care
So if she's doubting, if she's waiting
Tell her loud — she's still worth saving

Outro

Yeah, she's still worth saving...
Always worth saving.

“Still Worth Saving”

POEM

Even when the light feels gone,
And your nights outnumber days,
There's a whisper in the silence,
That your story still has grace.

You've stumbled, yes, and fallen hard,
But don't mistake your cracks for shame.
The strongest trees are storm-born scars,
And still they rise again.

You are still worth saving,
Still worth the fight.
The soul inside you, battered,
Still burns with sacred light.

Every tear that's ever fallen,
Every wrong that haunts your name—
Can be rewritten in redemption,
And be fuel to light the flame.

So take one step, just one today,
No need to run or fly.
You don't have to climb the mountain—
Just look up at the sky.

Because even through the shadows,
And all the years you've braved,
Heaven hasn't stopped believing—
You're still worth being saved.

The Harvest

Poem inspired by the song

I wandered long through fields of dust,
With dreams that broke and hopes that rust.
The road was rough, the nights were cold,
And prayers felt silent, growing old.

I planted seeds with trembling hands,
In barren soil, no promised land.
I cried for rain that never came,
And questioned heaven, cursed His name.

But still I rose, through storm and loss,
My eyes fixed firm upon the cross.
Each door that shut, each love that fled,
God turned to lessons, not to dread.

For every no, a hidden yes—
A path unknown, a wilderness.
And in the stillness, He was near,
Preparing harvest year by year.

Now golden stalks beneath the sun,
Remind me what His love has done.
A season comes, both rich and true,
When all He promised will break through.

So if you're tired, your spirit sore,
Keep sowing faith a little more.
The seed you plant with aching heart
Becomes the crop He set apart.

The Harvest

Song Lyrics

Verse 1

I've walked through storms, I've tasted pain,
Lost some love I can't regain.
Made mistakes I can't undo,
But somehow grace still pulled me through.

Verse 2

Watched dreams fall like autumn leaves,
Bent my knees with no reprieve.
But I held on through the fight,
Believin' morning follows night.

Chorus

And now the harvest, it's risin' high,
Fields of mercy 'neath the sky.
What was broken starts to grow,
In the soil of what I've come to know.
Every tear, every scar on my skin,
Led me right where I've always been —
In the hands of a plan divine,
Reapin' hope in God's good time.

Verse 3

Doors closed hard, but I walked through,
Trustin' there was somethin' new.
Planted kindness without a sign,
Now the fruit is sweet like vintage wine.

Bridge

If you're lost or feelin' small,
Keep your faith and stand up tall.
God don't waste a single day —
The seeds you plant will find their way.

Final Chorus

Yes, the harvest is comin' strong,
Right where my heart's belonged all along.
From broken ground, a purpose grew,
Turns out He always knew.
So I'll give thanks for every loss,
'Cause He's the gardener, I'm the cross.
And the season's right — now's the time...
To reap what's His and mine.

Outro

Oh the harvest... was always comin' in God's time.
